A high-angle view from a modern building balcony looking out over a city skyline. The balcony has a glass railing and a dark metal handrail. To the left is a tall building with a grid of blue glass windows and beige concrete balconies. In the center, a prominent blue glass skyscraper stands out against the clear blue sky. Below it, a complex highway interchange with multiple overpasses is visible, surrounded by green landscaping. To the right, another tall building with a textured, perforated metal facade is partially visible. The overall scene is bright and clear, suggesting a sunny day.
